By default one searches their Subject Guide. The search box will fill in their subject terms as you type
So now we are searching “United States. Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program” in their Subject Guide
Then at the next screen click on Subdivisions under United States. Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program
Then we can see that they have organized the articles on our topic into subdivisions. e.g. Laws, regulations and rules
And that leads us to four NY Times articles about recent legislation concerning the Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program.

   The Republican Party has spent years stigmatizing the food stamp program while trying to cut benefits or make them harder to get. In last month's farm bill, conservative lawmakers thought they had imposed an $8 billion ...

   WASHINGTON -- House leaders on Tuesday said they were working with their Senate counterparts toward Since SNAP also went by the name Food Stamp Program, we also need to go back and search their Subject Guide for Food Stamps.
And then check out the Subdivisions of Food Stamps
And we find that there are many more subdivisions and articles under Food Stamps, as that is the name the program went under for years.
